THE WESTERN CITIZEN

Paris, Kentucky,
FRIDAY MORNING, NOV. 24, 1865.

We learn from the Danville Advocate that on Thursday, of last week, Captain William Crozer was in that place in command of an engineer corps to survey the route for the extension of the Kentucky Central Railroad to Knoxville via Danville. This survey is undertaken at the instance of the railroad company, and is the same one surveyed by Captain C. in the fall of 1863 by order of Gen. Burnside, then in command of this department. The Advocate learned from Mr. H. C. Crozer, one of the surveying party, that the route is from Nicholasville via Danville, crossing the line of the Lebanon Extension Railroad at right angles near Knox Lick, through Hustonsville and Somerset, crossing at Burnside's Point the mouth of the Big South Fork of Cumberland to Kentucky State line, and thence to Clinton, East Tennessee. We learn that the route from Clinton to Knoxville, twenty miles, is all graded, and ten miles of the road in running order.

There is now no doubt but that the Kentucky Central Railroad will be extended, and through Danville at that. Whether it will be by the route now being surveyed by Capt. Crozer's party to Knoxville, or by the other route proposed, to McMinnville, Tenn., crossing the Cumberland river at or near Jamestown, Ky., and passing through the new petroleum regions of Crooks Creek, Burksville, &c., is a question that will soon be settled.

In arguing the practicability of this latter route, the Gazette says that it would enter the fertile valleys of Middle Tennessee by the most direct route from Cincinnati, and secure to that city a new trade of a value not easily estimated. Through Sparta, McMinnville, Tullahoma, and Stevenson, it would open a direct route to the great Southwestern system of railroads, and, like all the others indicated, would certainly prove a most lucrative enterprise, if well and economically conducted.

The steamship City of London, with foreign dates to the 9th instant, arrived at New York on Monday last. She brings the important and unexpected intelligence of the surrender of the rebel privateer, Shenandoah, to the British naval authorities, who now have the vessel in custody, the Captain and crew being released on parole. The Captain of the Shenandoah asserts that he first heard of the close of the war from a British ship, on the 30th of August. The Times and other London journals are perplexed as to what claims the United States will make concerning the privateer, and what the English Government will concede to. Earl Russell has been installed Premier, and Clarendon, Minister of Foreign Affairs.

At last advice no fighting had occurred along the Chilli coast, though the Spanish Admiral Pareja still pretended to maintain the blockade of the forty ports with his seven ships. The Chilean Government had opened three new ports and declared them open to free trade. This is to encourage blockade running. It will keep seven vessels busy to watch seventy three ports closely.

The Jamaica insurrection appears to be pretty nearly at an end. The British authorities are acting with a severity that strangely contrasts with the exhortations for clemency to the Southern rebels, which the English papers and people raise when the insurrections in our country failed. The Jamaica Standard says over 1,050 rebels have been hanged and shot in the Parish of St. Thomas, and there is a probability of the number being speedily increased to 2,000.

A very significant movement has been made by the Government in regard to Mexican affairs. All of the regular cavalry except detachments stationed in Washington City and elsewhere, have been ordered to report to Gen. Sheridan on the Rio Grande, and will be assigned to duty under Gen. Merritt, at San Antonio. The 21st and 81st regiments of regular cavalry are now in Maryland, the 4th in Tennessee, and the 1st and 6th in New Orleans. A letter from Corpus Christi states that no more troops are being mustered out.

Important advice have been received from Mexico. It is stated that Maximilian has ordered his troops to concentrate at three points, namely: Vera Cruz, the City of Mexico, and San Luis Potosi, and that at these places he is to await reinforcements. He has given up his proposed visit to Yucatan, as the complicated nature of his home affairs demands all of his attention. The Empress is about to start for Europe. The Mexicans are highly elated at the signs of sympathy manifested in the United States.

It is said that President Johnson will issue a proclamation prior to his message to Congress, defining more definitely the policy to be pursued relative to the reconstruction of the Southern States.

The Florida State Convention adjourned on the 18th inst. after annulling the ordinance of secession, abolishing slavery, repudiating the rebel war debt, and declaring that negroes shall be competent witnesses in any matter wherein a colored person is concerned.

Gen. Brislin, late commandant at the post of Lexington, has been ordered to Arkansas, in command of a brigade of negro troops.

The sum of the debts of the several Southern States contracted previous to the war has been estimated at about one hundred and fifty millions; of which Mississippi owes $20,000,000, North Carolina $9,000,000, Louisiana $5,500,000, and Virginia $56,000,000. The greater part of these bonds is held in Europe, and although they are, perhaps, rather better property than the rebel war loan, yet since one or two of the States have already petitioned to have their United States tax remitted this year, on the plea of poverty, it is not very likely that any portion of these obligations will be discharged at present.

The Detroit Free Press reports that smuggling is carried on to so great an extent in that city that some branches of trade are greatly injured by it, to say nothing of the losses of the Government. A meeting of the merchants was held on the 15th inst. to devise means of checking the crime. The wife of a prominent physician was lately caught while bringing smuggled goods across the river, and her horse and carriage were confiscated.

A rebel draft for £3,000, on a British house, captured some months since by one of our cruisers, and handed over to the U. S. Treasury, has been paid by the New York agency of the house to the order of our Government.

Three of the largest wells at Pitt-hole have been defrauding the Internal Revenue Department to the extent of $148,000. Seizures of the wells were made on Friday last, and the owners notified that the claims of Government must be satisfied.

The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, in a recent letter, says:

It is probable that Congress will, at an early day, repeal the stamp tax, so far as it relates to checks, bills, patent medicines, and other small matters where the amount is not more than a few cents in each article. It was thought at one time that the entire stamp tax, so onerous to Americans, ever since the colonial days, would be abolished during the approaching session, but I am informed that the Commissioner appointed by Congress to remodel the system of internal revenue will report in favor of retaining the stamp duty on legal deeds, mortgages, successions, &c., from which the amount yielded to the Government is so large that it could not well be spared.

It is stated on the authority of Paymaster General Price that since the commencement of the war the Pay Department has paid out the enormous sum of one thousand and twenty millions of dollars. It has only to pay out this amount three quarters of one per cent.—$6,650,000 07.

The Mexican Legation at Washington City had the appointment of Gen. Logan as Minister to that Republic, as an amen that this Government intends to maintain the Monroe doctrine on the American continent.

Arms are being taken away from Mississippi negroes.

Gen. Howard returned to Washington, a few days ago, from his extensive inspection tour through the South. He expresses the opinion that it would be injudicious to withdraw, at the present time, our troops from the South; but speaks encouragingly of the condition in which he found the freedmen, saying that a year's time will do much toward improving their condition.

The South Carolina Legislature ratified the Constitutional Amendment abolishing slavery by an almost unanimous vote in the Senate, and by seventy-four to twenty-eight in the House. A warm contest is predicted over the rebel war debt.

It is estimated that during the rebellion upwards of 2,000,000 bales of cotton and 30,000 boxes of tobacco were smuggled out of the Confederacy, and an immense amount of munitions of war smuggled in, through the direct agency of Mr. Crawford, the British Consul at Mobile.

The Secretary of War estimates the army expenses for the ensuing fiscal year at $38,000,000, and states that there are Government supplies on hand to last the present army for a year's fighting. The sales of Government property alone have brought in a sum as large as that above mentioned.

Gov. Morton has turned the duties of his office over to the Lieutenant Governor, and left Indianapolis for Europe on Friday last. His health is in a very precarious condition and his friends fear he will never return to his country.

A very dangerous counterfeit fifty-dollar greenback has just been discovered at the Treasury Department. It is the best executed counterfeit of United States currency afloat. It may be detected by the small figures, 50, at the end of the bill, the ends of the bill being inclosed in circular border, instead of octagonal border, as in the genuine. The transverse lines through the large figures, 50, at the ends also, fail to intersect as in the genuine, and the outline of the profile and the shade to the eyes of the picture of Hamilton are somewhat heavier than in the genuine.

General Grant is on a visit to the City of New York, where he is being lionized, on the most magnificent style.

The Atlanta Era states that coffins for pauper negroes cost the city $700 for the last three months.

CATTLE MARKETS.
NEW YORK, November 21.
BEEF CATTLE.—First quality, $17 50; fair to good, $15 50; common, $11 00; inferior, $9 50; 12 00.
SHEEP AND LAMBS.—Extra, per head, $5 00; prime quality, $6 00; ordinary, $5 00; common, $4 50; inferior, $3 00.
SWINE.—Heavy corn-fed, per lb., 12 1/2; light and medium, 12 1/2; small, 11 1/2; 11 1/2; 11 1/2.
REMARKS.—Beef cattle were dull, heavy, and 1/2 scale per pound lower this week, owing to the unfavorable weather and excessive receipts. There were some cattle left over that week, and as the weather was warm all through the week, many of the cattle bought a week ago have not been slaughtered, in view of which, the demand this week was unusually light, and with large receipts the market broke. Prices ranged from 9c to 18c, the various grades selling as above.
The receipts of all kinds at the yards, for this week were as follows: Horses, 6,072; Sheep and Lambs, 29,557; Swine, 22,962.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 21.
CATTLE.—The arrivals of cattle have been liberal, but as the demand has been nearly sufficient to take all the offerings, there has been no change in prices. The market, at the close, was quiet, at $2 25 for common to first quality. Extra have brought $3 25 per cental gross, but this may be regarded as an extreme figure.
SHEEP.—Sheep have been in fair demand, and the market rates quiet at $4 50 per cental gross. There is a fair demand for Lambs, at $3 50 per cental gross.
HOGS.—There has been no particular change in the prices for Hogs since our last. There has been a good demand for the product, and a corresponding demand for the receipts, at $10 50 to 11 50 per cental gross, but the latter rate is an extreme, and obtainable only for extra heavy. At the close, $10 75 to 11 25 gross was the prevailing rate; $13 50 to 14 per cental are the ruling rates, but the demand for them is only moderate.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 22.
HOGS.—The range of prices to day seemed to be from $10 50 to 11 25 gross, with $10 75 to 11 to cover medium or standard averages. Net weights sell at $12 75 to 13 50 for light to heavy averages.

THE WESTERN CITIZEN

FRIDAY MORNING, NOV. 24 1865.

An old salt, who had been on a bender, had got what he termed sublimely mystified by his frequent imbibings of the "critter." Staggering along the streets, he thought to go to the theatre, and pass the remainder of the evening. Following some men whom he thought bound on the same voyage, he found himself in what he took to be the pit, but it happened to be the meeting house and the minister was preaching from the text wherein is mentioned the sheep and the goat, and in order to make an impression upon his congregation, he puts the significant question: "Who, would wish to be a goat?" and then pauses, and then, with greater emphasis, asked, "Who will be a goat?" Our tipsy sailor could not brook the jest, and at once responded: "As nobody else (hic) will be it, I'll be the (hic) goat, rather (hic) than the play should stop."

Augustus Doolittle had been in a store about three months when his employer asked him what part of the business he liked best. To which the elegant youth replied: "Shuttin' up, sir."

The Press: It expresses truth, represses error, impresses knowledge, de-presses tyranny, and op-presses none.

Patrick gave his testimony in the riot case. "Be jabbers, the first man I saw coming at me was two brick bats."

"My friends," said a returned missionary at a late anniversary meeting, "let us avoid sectarian bitterness. The inhabitants of Hindoostan, where I have been laboring for many years, have a proverb that 'Though you bathe a dog's tail in oil and bind it in splints, you cannot get the crook out of it.' Now a man's sectarian bias is simply the crook in the dog's tail, which cannot be eradicated; and I hold that every one should be allowed to wag his own peculiarity in peace!"

A Philadelphia paper tells a laughable story of an incident of the recent Episcopal Convention in that city. A party of five clergymen set out to attend the inauguration exercises of the American Union Convention, which were, as they understood to be held at the Academy of Music. The place of meeting had been changed to another hall, but of this they knew nothing. Considering themselves entitled to seats on the platform, the reverend gentlemen entered by the stage door. They walked rapidly by the doorkeeper—who mistook one of them for Edwin Forrest—and said "good evening," and were astonished to find themselves between two lines of soldiers in paper helmets. "Make less noise or you'll be heard in front," said a gruff soldier, shifter, and the unhappy clergymen discovered that Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keen were playing Hamlet and Gertrude close beside them, and that only a thin canvas partition separated them from the actors and audience. Of course they became hasty retreat, just in time to avoid having their black coats and white ties exhibited to the assembled thousands by a change of scenes.

There are no old maids in Japan. If a girl's charms do not captivate her husband, the law takes the matter in hand, and provides her with one.

A wedding was interrupted lately in Colchester, England, by levity of the groom. All went well until the clergyman required the bridegroom to repeat after him the words, "I, take— to be my wedded wife * * * for better, for worse," etc., when he altered the formula to "I'll take her for better, but not for worse." The minister immediately closed the book, and quitted the church.

A certain attaché of the Treasury Department in Washington, who is well known as an inveterate toper, on being asked by a peculiar friend what he did for a living, replied, "I suck a bottle part of the time, and the United States Treasury the rest."

Sir Walter Scott tells a story of a Scotch minister, who, on an icy winter Sabbath, threatened his congregation with everlasting torments in thick-rimmed ice. Being taxed with the heretical tendencies of such a version, the crafty Scotch replied: "I'd no try to scare sinners this cold weather by making 'em think of a hot fire."

The late letter of Massa Greeley to his colored brethren of North Carolina, has inspired the recipient with great respect for him. A resolution thanking the young colored men who had edited papers in the cause of universal freedom was lately passed by the North Carolina Negro Convention now in session at Raleigh, when a question arose as to whether or not it applied to "Brother Greeley." A leather-colored character explained that Massa Greeley was not a colored man, when an individual, black as the ace of spades, remarked that he always supposed Brother Greeley to be a full-blooded nigger, but that if he wasn't, den he deserved to be.

A clergyman called on a poor parishioner, whom he found bittily lamenting the loss of an only son, a boy of about four or five years of age. In the hope of consoling the afflicted woman, he remarked to her that "one so young could not have committed any very grievous sin and that no doubt the child had gone to heaven." "All sir," said the simple hearted creature, "but Tommy was so sly—and they are all strangers there!"

"Do you wrong to fish on Sunday," said a clergyman to a lad he saw so doing. "Well sir," replied the boy, "it can't be much harm, for I ain't cotted nothing."

Captain Girardi, of Augusta, Georgia, has invented an engine which he manufactures rapidly and of the finest quality. He supplies the city of Augusta, and says that when his establishment is perfected and in full operation, he can furnish ice at one cent per pound.

The Philadelphia Age says a leading coal merchant in that city returns an income of $400,000.

General Bragg is about to start a cotton plantation in Alabama with free negro labor.

It has been determined not to restore the estate of Ex-Governor Wise, of Virginia.
